Online Resources

For over 15 years, Grand Canyon University has offered premier online education. While this is an unprecedented situation, we are uniquely positioned to provide you with a high-quality learning environment to complete the remaining few weeks of your current courses online.

GCU uses LoudCloud (LC), which provides multiple resources for student learning. It is important to take full advantage of the resources available in your LC classroom as you complete your courses online.

Your instructors will also utilize these resources to provide opportunities for live and on-demand learning while meeting the objectives for each class and providing regular and substantive interaction between students and faculty.

To maximize your learning experience, individual instructors will define best practices within your online classrooms to optimize your learning experience. For your success:

- Log in and read the latest announcement during your regular class time
- Participate fully in discussion topics as directed by your instructor
- View all resources provided by the instructor (links, videos, PowerPoints, Student Success Center, GCU Library, etc.)
- Ask questions in the forums as directed by your instructor
- Submit all assignments on time in LC
- Continue to communicate with your instructor to maximize your success

Instructors will post initial announcements in your LC classroom by Sunday, March 22.

We look forward to continuing to provide you with the high-quality learning experience you've come to expect from GCU and we appreciate your flexibility during this time.

Dr. Hank Radda
